love's tranquility

DELIVERANCE

Wandering through faraway, hidden lands,
Untouched by time, chaos and chance,
I met an angel with fiery eyes and gentle hands,
Blind to her own beautiful and perfect dance.

She sang of love and two golden bands,
Wherein petty self parts from arrogance,
Where a sacred prayer banishes demands,
Trust spinning magic from trite circumstance.

She floated over expanding fairy-lands,
Offering a future ablaze in crystal radiance,
Where she carried me to magical wonderlands,
And I granted sight to her perfect elegance.

Now we fly together against blind commands,
Empowering and spinning in a kindred dance,
Where our energy commingles and ever expands,
To grant deliverance inside eternal romance.
